ALL SORTS.

The Grand Jury were in session yesterday.

Shade trees for sale. Apply at Andrew Roberts.

Charley Long will be here next month to testify in the mint case.

The Appeal extends its thanks to Mr. La Grave for the State Controller's report.

Mrs. Sarah Stevens, who played Mrs. Bagot in Trilby, is the widow of John C. Henman.

The Turners will have a fine place to exercise in their new hall in the Agricultural building.

Editor Fairbanks came up from Dayton last evening to see Trilby's foot. He couldn't possibly keep away.

An experienced acquaintance, now wishes a few more engagements. Call at Mrs. Z. Edgcomb's next to Will Day's.

Lost:—A gentleman's watch. The finder will please leave at the Salvation Army headquarters, over Archie Baker's store.

Lost:—A pair of eye glasses in a Morocco case, near the Episcopal Church. The finder will leave the same at this office.

Mr. St. James and bride who were recently married in San Francisco will spend their honeymoon in Southern California.

Mrs. Frank Nankoville, wife of the Call artist, reached this city yesterday accompanied by her little son. She is the guest of Mrs. Geo. R. Davis.

Five men are now working in the Boston and Lester mine in Silver City. The mine is still producing rich rock. The last working of ten tons produced $2,700.

The Paderewski excursion leaves this evening for San Francisco and will return Saturday morning, enough tickets having been sold to make it a success.

The Barrison sisters have been ordered out of Berlin. They were fascinating adventuresses who were turning the heads of the nobility and the Government finally had to interfere. The Barrison girls would do well in Carson.

That a reform school is badly needed in Nevada is shown by the crimes committed by boys in various parts of the State. The next legislature could provide for one, for sending boys to a State prison only makes greater criminals of them.

Mr. Richardson, who has been for some years in the candy business in San Francisco, will open a large candy store in the place formerly occupied by Mayo & McClaskey. Joe Muller will be associated with him. They propose to manufacture all their own candy. Being an expert at the business he can undersell any candy sent here from San Francisco and always have fresh stock.

The Weiland Saloon.

Whitney has assumed control of the Weiland saloon, which he proposes to run strictly up to the times. He will dispense the best liquors and cigars and fine old Government whiskey which slides down your throat like oil, tickling your palate meanwhile. Call and see "Handsome Whit." fill

AN APPEAL TO REASON.

The People of the Country Called on to Protect Their Interests.

J. J. Mott, Chairman of the National Silver Committee, has issued an address to the people of the United States. It closes on these words:

"The gold gamblers may deride the popular ebullition as a system of harmless 'socialism,' but if they are wise, they will heed the admonition, persist not in their greed of accumulation at the expense of the toiling and suffering people. The plain, patriotic duty of every man who loves and honors his country, who jealously guards its institutions, who would die for the principles that have made it the greatest, the richest, the proudest, the most independent nation on the face of the globe, is to assert his manhood and subordinate party success to the country's welfare in the impending conflict.

"Let us have this metal money restored, and in the proportions in the nation's storehouse, as it was found in Washington's time, when the flag and legislation were fresh, and God seemed to speak to the people from an open book.

"The men who are for gold stand together, no matter what party they belong to. They have control of both the Republican and Democratic parties. The people, in their distress, striking at entrenched power, knock out first one and then the other party, but no matter which turn is taken, it is uppermost.

"The gold leaders are keen, determined men and loyal to the gold standard men. As the silver leaders are determined, less intelligent and less loyal? If they are equal to the others in these qualities, what is the matter that they allow victory after victory to be secured against them, and that, too, when the silver people in the country are in the vast majority?

"The people are enraged and I justify so. Must they say at length to these leaders, 'Go, these many years have we sent you for silver and you have returned to us without it. You are unproductive servants, and have led us through the bog and quagmire of disappointment. We like to honor you, but you must take us by some other road and reach our idol.'

"The men who blazed the way for the silver conference did well. The people see the trial of their liberties, and are ready for the battle. The Philistines are at our doors. To your tents, oh, Israel!"

Trilby.

The fact that a good play draws a good house was demonstrated last evening. The audience went especially to see something better than usual and were not disappointed.

The play depicts a good deal from the novel and it is an improvement on it.

From the instant the curtain raises until it falls the interest in the play never flags.

The characters of Tuffy, The Laird and Little Billie were in excellent hands. Ruben Fox made the most of Svengali in the exercise of his wild and villainous influence over Trilby, but the role is one that is not specially exacting and it would not suffer at the hands of any good actor. Mme. Vinard was very natural and lively and a great go in the hands of Jennie Reiffarth. Mrs. Bagot as played by Sarah Stevens was perfect.

Trilby, the leading role, was played with great effect by Miss Edith Crane. She is a beautiful woman with a fine figure and sympathetic voice. She fills all the requirements of the interesting role.

The studio scene and the revel on the night of Trilby's expected marriage to Little Billie was "up to der limit."

Advertise Nevada.

The Yerington Rustler says: A gentleman, terse in expression, bright in idea, who talks right from the start and to the point, met a Rustler reporter on the train the other day and remarked: "I'm just from the East, and will tell you what is a fact. I have heard a number of people back there inquiring as to what could be done in Nevada. There seems to be no general information among Eastern people regarding the wonderful natural resources that you have here in Nevada, and you are losing some fine opportunities by not advertising its resources among the people of the East who need enlightenment on what can be produced in Nevada.

The Eastern papers are working hard to give the best accounts of the future Mrs. Barrison's underclothes. In the illustrations the New York World seems to have distanced all competitors. They didn't miss a single article.

Wouldn't Borrow From the State.

The following good story is told in the San Francisco Post:

"No State in the Union ever had three such picturesque, honest and competent men occupying State offices at one time as Nevada," declared an old time politician, "when L. R. Bradley, an old cattle man and millionaire, was Governor, Jerry Schooling, an old blacksmith, State Treasurer, and Bill Hobart, a prospector, as Comptroller.

"Once when the Legislature refused to pass the appropriation bill so that an extra session would have to be called, Governor Bradley went to Treasurer Schooling and asked how much it would take to run the State Government two years. He was told half a million dollars. 'Then,' said he, 'I'll have those scoundrels to go to the devil with their appropriation bill. I'll run her myself two years.'

The bill was passed.

"Once old Jerry Schooling bundled $500,000 worth of State bonds into his old carpet sack and brought them to San Francisco to sell for State purposes. He stopped at the old Cosmopolitan Hotel at Sansone and Bush streets, and as he was preparing to leave for home he asked the landlady to loan him $40. He knew of Jerry's mission and knew it had been successful.

"What do you want of $40?" he asked. "You have a carpet sack full of gold and currency."

"Yes, it belongs to the State. Suppose I should take $40 of that and the cars should run off the track, and the people of the Nevada find old Jerry Schooling all smashed, and when they found the grip sack and counted over the money they would find it $40 short. What then? Not much. The people of Nevada will never catch old Jerry Schooling embezzling. Let me have $40, won't you?"

Query on Prize Fights.

New York, Feb. 18, 1895.

To Governor Jones:—

I read the finding of the American people against any more brutal prize fights. Should not prize fights be completely prohibited in every State and Territory? Should not the one at El Paso be the last one?

W. R. Hearst.

The Journal.

Up to the time of going to press last evening, Acting Governor Sadler had not interviewed a sufficient number of people to know how they stood in Nevada on prize fights.

A Drunken Squaw.

Yesterday afternoon Constable Patterson arrested a drunken squaw. She was so uproarious that she had to be placed on a buckboard to get her to the Station house. It required several men to handle her and the spectacle was a very disgraceful one.

She got her liquor in Chinatown, the place where the Indian can always get liquor.

CHEAP CUSTOM WORK A DECEPTION.

A style of tailoring is rapidly gaining headway which is but an imposition upon the consumer and a detriment to the workman. The cheap custom work or what is called "special order work," is a shrewd dodge for the purpose of deceiving the customer into the belief that he is obtaining custom work at ready made prices. The real worth of custom work lies in the exactness of the fit, and the thoroughness in which it is made. Cheap custom work is therefore inferior to ready made work.

Large concerns, some also engaged in ready made work have grown up of late and depend for patronage upon retail stores, and have numerous agents scattered everywhere soliciting orders and gain trade because of the strikingly cheap prices offered for goods made to order. As a rule these agents seldom obtain an order twice from the same person.

It is about time that this scheme was exposed to the people and ABE COHN of the EMPORIUM shows up the fraud. If you want clothes that fit and are tried on as often as is necessary call at the EMPORIUM Court House Building, Carson City, Nevada.
